A SUNDAY IN PARIS.

A Sunday in Paris is as thoroughly unlike a Sunday in this country as it is possible to be. Work goes on there the same as on a week day, the shops are almost all open, the wagons laden with goods go about the streets, people attend to nearly all their avocations, and until noon they work just the same as if it were a week day. After midday everything closes except the cafes and newspaper offices--for the evening papers all come out on Sunday with their latest editions, and the city takes a holiday. I suppose some of the Parisians go to church on Sunday, but it really seems as if church going was the least matter thought of by most people. They have their horse races and their elections on Sunday, their theater and opera give the best performances in the evening, and the Exposition on Sunday drew its largest crowds. In fact, the day is treated as a day for extraordinary merrymaking, and as a holiday which is to be made the most of for the public amusement. This is the French idea of Sunday and, assuredly, it is as entirely unlike our idea as two ideas can be. It is impossible to tell all the great French festivals are celebrated on Sunday, and it is the day when the largest crowds can be attracted, and when the public by turning out in the largest numbers make those displays for which Paris is famous.

All the shops close upon Sunday morning in Paris, this peculiar people who will live from hand to mouth first buy breakfast in the morning and then start out to have dinner. They first invest in a little kindling wood to burn the fire, and then in a little oil clothed to keep it going. The person who bought meat this day or two ago will be looked up to as one of the State so fixed is the public mind of buying only enough for the day. The kindling wood and charcoal top are prominent and commanding the streets, so much so, and they display their goods in the windows so attractively as possible, that kindling wood must be in small bundles at 20 cents apiece, the oil cloth at 10 cents, and the charcoal in bags weighing 10 to 15 lbs. each piece. It is wanted by some master who is bold enough to establish a place to be paid for it at the rate of 2 cents a pound. He buys just enough till the day is over and keeps his money in the evening. To find the rage is somewhat restricted, the Parisians buy everything by weight, as much for the kilogramme which corresponds to nearly 21 pounds. Reducing the price paid to American money, and the purchases to pounds, it is found that Parisian men pay about 12 cents per pound for dried ordinary lamb, 10 cents for mutton, 12 cents for mutton chops, 18 cents for lamb, 64 cents for mutton, $1 to $1 20 for ordinary lamb, 10 cents for lamb, 50 cents for butter, 18 cents for ordinary ham, 10 cents for bacon, 10 cents for hams at the shop, the usual way in which it is here. The meat is fed sugar. It is known to the master, by pureJumping, who is sold here about 8 cents a quart for milk, 4 cents each for tomatoes, 12 cents for half a kilo for potatoes. These are the main prices paid for the articles, and the like. In a short time in the fall it shows the high prices at which certain articles of food are in Paris. This is due to the increased expenses consequent upon the Exposition, but also in the nature of a city expense. Purchasing always turns upon almost everything, but in the city, in order to turn a profit. But with these very high prices the Parisians can still buy meat cheaply than in most cities owing to the small value of the articles. If they subsist upon, and the absence of wastefulness, it does not surprise them why a summer outfit of clothing sent in Paris yesterday (Sunday) of which the cost of composition it was not bought at the principal markets on Sunday morning. The important business of the popular started for the Exposition to the theaters and cafes to the boulevard to Versailles. It being the greatest day at Versailles the first Sunday in the month, at least 200,000 people directed their steps to that famous city and place. But Paris could readily spare them for including the strangers there are probably 3,000,000 people in there now. Paris!

BAFF-SPEEDY-GURE

The right and certainty with which Dr. Morris' Syrup of Tar, Will Cherry and Horhound cures disease of the respiratory organs and its reliability as a remedy for consumption long recognized especially for the throat and bronchial disorders. It promptly checks a cough, no matter how long standing, and affords relief in cases of asthma. It should not be mistaken for a mere palliative since it aids the lungs in their effort but also removes all traces of the malady. It is a specific for a cold. Trial size 10 cent. For sizes 10 cents and One Dollar. Sold by Dr. A. J. Stoner, druggist, Decatur, Ill.

Also agents for Prof. Parker's Lemon Worm Syrup, which cures fevers. Please to take, and require no physician. Price 2 cent. Dr. J. D. Watson.

WHY THE HAIR FALLS OUT,

AND HOW TO RESTORE ITS STRENGTH AND COLOR. Each hair is secreted by a little vein or gland, the latter being nourished by a small blood vessel. As long as these blood vessels furnish sufficient nourishment the hair will continue to grow, but if from disease or other cause they become torpid or obstruct the hair will necessarily become dry and fall off. It is here the wonderful virtues of London Hair Oil for Restoring it are manifested, as its tonic properties will not only restore the scalp to a healthy condition, and a fine growth of hair in its natural youthful color, but it is the result. Apart from its tonic and coloring qualities, London Hair Oil for Restoring the hair is simply and lasting, and hair dressings making it indispensable on the toilet of every lady an ornament. Sell for 5 cents a bottle by all leading dealers. April 1st, 1878.

Query: Why will you smoke a poor 5 cent cigar when you can get a Repler's Queen, which costs 18 cents for the same money? [A. J. D. W.]

COMPETITIONS founded on the recent vote show that the States which are increasing fastest in population are Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, California, and Colorado. At the recent election the vote of Kansas almost equaled that of Texas in 1876. From indications, the States which will make greatest gains in members of Congress and electoral votes in the apportionment after the next census will be Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and California. New England will barely hold her own.

THAT the Ohio boy is not lacking in originality has been demonstrated by a recent occurrence at the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, located at Columbus. Last month a boy named Henry Emberly came to the institution, duly authenticated by his guardian, and recommended by the proper authorities. All the papers were in good shape, and the boy was admitted. A few days since the superintendent discovered young Emberly could hear and speak. The boy then confessed that he had deceived his friends as to his condition, that he might gain admission to the institution. He was an orphan, was poor, and had no home, and, wanting an education, had determined to play the part of a deaf mute, to secure the advantages offered at a state institution. He was influenced, possibly, in this course by the New York girl who went through the fall scenes at the State School for the Deaf and Dumb, and graduated before it was discovered that she was not a mute. The boy did not play his part so well, and, after a stay of a few days, was sent home.

BEWARE.

A new counterfeit silver dollar has made its appearance in Chicago and other places, and an exchange gives the following description of it: The general appearance of the piece is very good indeed. Even acids will not act upon it. The weight, however, is against it, the scales showing that it has just seven-tenths the weight which a standard dollar should have. There are other minor defects which were ascertained after some little examination.—It is a trifle thicker, for instance, than the standard dollar, and the milling on the edge is imperfect. The figure "8" in "1878" is also imperfect, having dots in each loop. The dog harked and chewed until the son came down in his night shirt and called him off. He told his father he had bought that dog of a fireman for $1, and it was probably the best dog bargain that had been made this season. He said the fireman told him he could find a man that wanted that kind of a dog.

The parent took off his pants, what the dog had not removed, and in the hall he stumbled over a birch-bark canoe the boy bought of an Indian for $9, and an army musket with an iron ramrod fell down from the corner. The boy had paid $6 for that. He had also bought himself an overcoat with a seal-skin collar and cuffs, and a complete outfit of calico shirts and silk stockings.

In his room the parent found the marble top of a soda-fountain, wheel-barrow, and shelf filled with all kinds of canned-meat, preserves, and crackers, and a barrel of apples. A wall tent and six pairs of blankets were rolled up ready for camping out, and a buckskin shirt and a pair of corduroy pants lay on the bed ready for putting on. Six fish poles and a basketful of fishing lines were ready for business, and an oyster can full of grub-worms for bait were squirming on the washstand. The old gentleman looked the lay-out over, looked at his pocketbook in the bureau-drawer, as empty as a contribution box, and said:

"Young man, the times have been too flush. We will now return to a specie basis. When you want money, come to me and I will give you a nickel, and you will tell me what you intend to buy with it, or I'll warn you. You hear me?"

And now that man stands around from the effect of the encounter with the yellow dog, and asks every man where letter will reach Bob Ingerson. He says he will kill Ingerson, if it is the last noble act he ever accomplishes.

Whatever name or designation is given to cause of Fever and Ague, or other intermittent disease, it is always malaria.—Eliminate that from the system, and a sure cure is the immediate result.

The safest, surest, most effectual, and, at the same time perfectly harmless preparation for producing this happy effect, is Curtis & Ewing's.

Her Majesty, though greatly grieved, is not ill.

DARMSTADT, Dec. 14.—The Grand Duchess of Hesse, Darmstadt, Princess Alice of England, died at 7:30 this morning, of diphtheria.

The Grand Duchess was third child and second daughter of Queen Victoria. She was born April 25, 1843, and was married to Prince Ludwig of Hesse, July 1, 1862. Her father, the late Prince Albert, died Saturday, December 14, 1861. The Princess was in a state of unconsciousness from 2:30 a.m. until the time of her death.

Newspaper Report.—The newspapers report that Count Schouvaloff's accession to the Ministry of the Interior will inaugurate a regime which shall give effect to the constitution. The Czar instructed the count to draw up while at Livadia.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 14.—Porter Guernsey, aged 15, son of a prominent druggist, and Florence Wicksell, aged 16, daughter of the Presbyterian clergyman at Lake City, while skating together last evening, were drowned. Their bodies have been recovered.

Dan Ben's trained blind horse is dead. He will be remembered in connection with Dan's circus at the time of its last exhibition in this city, some four years ago, when Dan was pretty nearly pegged out financially, and now the noble animal has "done gone" and pegged out physically. He was said to be the best trained horse in the world.

The Livingston Free Press has the following:

Professor Blake, the Dester weather prophet, predicts that we will have very little rain from now until the first of January, but from that date on through the months of January and February, a large amount of snow will fall, and the weather will be very cold.

One ice packers may take courage from the above and possess their souls in patience, for the good time is coming when twelve inch ice may be harvested in abundance.

There are at present three churches in the city without a pastor—the Episcopal, Baptist, and Christian. These societies have all pleasant and commodious houses of worship, and it is to be hoped that their pulpits may soon be occupied by able and efficient pastors.

The examination of witnesses in the liquor cases on trial in the Circuit Court, discloses a vast amount of ignorance as to whether or not beer is an intoxicating drink. We apprehend that there are some fellows that know about it to a dead certainty.

Tim Sunday Schools of the city are taking off Christmas trees and the like, and next Sunday the superintendents will tell the children what they may expect in that line. There are to be some fine displays.

At the County Fair, on the 1st of November, all the people go to it. Midway does not open until 11 o'clock, and the engine and firemen barely escaped with their lives. Several hours were consumed in clearing away the wrecks, so the rail and express trains could pass.

So far as our reporter can learn the roads are all clear now, and unless some other accident occurs there will be little or no delay in the arrival and departure of trains.

Car Loads of Mediehal Rubbish

Are swallowed by invalids, and their physical troubles thus kept alive for years, when that peerless tonic, stimulant and corrective, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, would speedily set the disordered and worn-out mechanism of the system in active and healthful operation again. It has been demonstrated over and over again that the requirements of the sick are answered far better by the Bitters than by a majority of the so-called remedies of the pharmacopeia. The stomach is strengthened, the liver regulated, the bowels kept in proper order, the blood enriched and purified, and the nervous system relieved, tranquil and vigorous, thus insuring family medicine and safeguard against disease, which is, moreover, a most agreeable and effective appetizer, and a cardinal peculiarity adapted to the wants of the aged and infirm, delicate females and convalescent patients. It is, besides, immensely popular as an antidote to malaria.

A Dr. Cosmopolitan. Rev. Dr. Goodwin preached to a very large congregation at the First M. E. Church last evening. Nearly every seat was filled. The minister took for his text the following words of St. Paul, found in I. Corinthians, 16:22, "If my main love not be the Lord Jesus Christ let him be Antheus marathath."—accused the Lord beneath. It was an old and popular discourse, and engaged the closest attention. At the close an invitation was extended to any who might wish to join the church, either by letter or on probation, and two gentlemen came forward. The revival will be kept up to this lunch every evening until further notice.

Gentlemen proposing to run for office at the coming city election should proclaim their intention soon. It is now only a little more than two months to election, and the fellow who first gets his name before the public has the inside track. Come, gentlemen, step to the front and pass in your announcements.

Tim Cold Water Army. The Cold Water Army was greeted by a large audience on Saturday evening, on the occasion of reporting their entertainment, than they had at the first exhibition of the previous evening. The stomach is strengthened, the liver regulated, the bowels kept in proper order, the blood enriched and purified, and the nervous system relieved, tranquil and vigorous, thus insuring family medicine and safeguard against disease, which is, moreover, a most agreeable and effective appetizer, and a cardinal peculiarity adapted to the wants of the aged and infirm, delicate females and convalescent patients. It is, besides, immensely popular as an antidote to malaria.

Gates Made in the Flash by abscesses and ulcers speedily disappear without leaving a scar, when Hess' Catonic Salve is applied to them. This standard article cures the worst sores, eradicates cutaneous eruptions, relieves the pain of burns, banishes pimples and blisters from the skin and has proved to be eminently successful in remedying rheumatism and soreness of the throat and chest. Sold by S. M. Keeler, the live druggist, Decatur.

OFF THE TRACK.

Troubles Never Come Singly—Two Trains on the Wabash Fly the Track in One Day.

Saturday was a memorable day to the Wabash officials, as two very annoying accidents occurred within a few hours of each other. Waiting passengers at the depot could not conceal their displeasure, and some, rather than stand around with their hands in their pockets waiting for the delayed trains, wisely concluded to return to their homes, or the hotels, and remain in our beautiful city until to day.

Passenger train No. 5, due here at 3 p.m. Saturday, did not arrive until two o'clock Sunday morning. The delay was caused by No. 4, which left here at 11:45 a.m. Saturday, jumping the track at Tolono. The engine and five coaches, including the baggage and mail car, rested on the tie. The railroad men labored hard all the afternoon and long into the night to get the cars on again, and finally succeeded, and all was to do once more.

At adjourned to nine o'clock on Monday morning, Dec. 16th.

Court convened at 9 o'clock, Judge Nelson presiding. Cases were disposed of as follows:

PROSECUTOR'S DOCKET.

The People vs. Samuel Carles; divorce. Decree set aside on motion of complainant and leave granted to amend bill.
